CHAIRMAN'S REPORT – Alan Lacey

I'm pleased to report that the Society has had a good year and we end the 2015/2016 period with a buoyant membership level and a good financial position. This is only possible with the support and hard work of the office team and the dedication shown by Su Werran and her colleagues.

Over the year we have staged some topical and successful events and engaged with industry and regulators on a number of key issues. By participating in the Food Expert Panel of the Better Regulation Delivery Office we are able to gain a broad overview of current issues and participate in lobbying which increases the profile of the Society. A result of our raised profile is that we are increasingly asked by journalists to comment on topical and sometimes controversial issues, and we are recognised as a credible and pragmatic voice of the entire food industry.

One of the biggest issues facing food manufacturers and retailers, and of course, chemical suppliers is the new EU restriction of chemical residues in food. Few member states share the concerns of the UK food industry so at the moment the future of our current excellent practices and standards seems threatened. I'm pleased that the Society has been at the forefront of the debate and our contacts in Europe have enabled us to articulate the concerns of our industry.

Over the course of the year we have introduced four co-opted board members – Sukhbir Kaur, Dianne Waite, Garry Dennis and Peter Littleton and all are now standing for election as full Council members. Between them they bring a huge range of expertise and experience to the board which will strengthen our position going forward.

My term as Chairman – which has been a great privilege - comes to an end and I am pleased to be handing over to my deputy, Ian Booth, whose industry experience is second to none. I wish Ian good luck in the role and thank him and all of my fellow directors for their support over the past two years.

Membership

Our levels of membership have been maintained which is in no small part due to the unparalleled range of benefits we offer to members. This together with our realistic subscription rates attracts members with diverse skills from all sectors of the food and service industries and this is one of our key strengths and something which we value and never lose sight of.

I am pleased to welcome four new Supporting Company Members – Needlers, International Procurement & Logistics Ltd, ISS Facility Services Ltd and Team Industrial (UK) Limited – who together with our existing SCMs offer valuable support to the Society. The calibre and reputation of the organisations at this level is indeed impressive.

We have hosted some excellent meetings for SCMs this year using the National Liberal Club as our London venue. Topics covered in those meetings have included fraud in the alcoholic drinks industry, horizon scanning and political lobbying. We've been fortunate to have attracted excellent speakers and the presence of representatives from the Food Standards Agency and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office has ensured lively debates followed by an opportunity to enjoy the facilities of this historic Club overlooking the Thames.

BREAKFAST CLUB – Ian Booth, Vice Chair

An extensive program of Breakfast Clubs has been devised for the coming year. This year continues with a focus on food integrity, with Breakfast Clubs covering Threat Analysis for a range of product categories. Horizon Scanning has been added as a topic, allowing a broad range of technical areas which may impact the food industry to be considered. As well as these new areas of focus, the fundamental areas of hygiene and safety are on the agenda, including pest control, hygienic equipment design and personnel.

TRAINING REPORT – Ian Booth, Vice Chair

The Society has continued to offer a range of cost effective training throughout 2015 and 2016. New courses have been introduced to our Training Academy, including Biocides and Disinfection, and the Food Safety Culture course continues to drive the behaviours and culture which can have a significant impact on the business's food hygiene compliance.

Alongside the Training Academy, we continue to offer a range of Food Safety training including web based options and our Food Safety Level 4 Carousel Training to offer maximum flexibility for our members. Our office team are on hand Monday – Friday with details on all our options.

SOFHT FOCUS EDITOR & MEDIA/PR Report – Fiona Kibby

The Society employed the services of Maple Rock Design to manage the layout, design and publishing of the SOFHT Focus in September 2015. This has enabled the office team to focus on supporting events, memberships and other Society activities and ensures that the SOFHT Focus maintains a current and professional look. The SOFHT Focus is also now emailed through MailChimp, giving the Members a better looking email notification without the large emails. MailChimp is also being used by the SOFHT office for other marketing campaigns.

The SOFHT website now also hosts press releases for members, giving them a platform to network within The Society as well as reaching out to non-members.

There has been increased use of Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn and this is proving to be a useful avenue for PR and marketing of SOFHT Activities. I joined the editorial board of Food & Drink Technology magazine and this will enable the Society to raise its profile further.

EVENTS REPORT – Catherine Watkinson

I am so pleased that we have gained momentum in this area this year and had a full programme of Events available to our members and non-members. All of which were well attended and on reviewing the feedback were really well delivered for our delegates and exhibitors.

From Food Defence to Pest Control, Allergens and most recently Horizon Scanning it has been so good to get back to our 4 events a year. This area of SOFHT requires such planning and resource, months in advance of the actual events taking place, in order to secure the highest calibre of speakers and maximum marketing time for all our members and non-members to hear about the events. From identifying the right venue that will ensure we have good coverage around the country and the right working space to hold both a conference for up to 80 delegates and an exhibition for up to 13 companies but also to arrange all the backroom tasks such as room space, lunches, delegate packs and badges – the list goes on!

It has been great that with new Board Directors joining the Society we now have a larger Events team working tirelessly to pick the right subjects and identify the key speakers in this area.

Our areas of focus for 2016/17 is to again bring to fruition 4 mainstream events and 2 ½ day events on topical issues. These already include Biocides in July, an updated and modernised Mock Trial based on a pest incident in October and a Risks and Controls – Back to Basics in February 2017. We are also planning a ½ day GM update. Keep yourselves updated on all our events by visiting our website, following us on Twitter or Facebook.

As always, thanks must go to Su Werran and her office team who work so hard on promoting these events, taking the bookings, arranging all the packs and speaker notes and generally preparing the whole day for us in advance so that it goes smoothly and even after the last delegate has gone home, they are still working on collating feedback comments and identifying key areas of interest that people want to hear about and letting us know that we got right. A massive thank you.

I look forward to another full programme this year and to meeting new and old faces. It is incredible the support we get from all our speakers who give up their time to present and our exhibitors that continue to support our events. These are fantastic networking opportunities for all sectors of the industry and there is nothing more rewarding than walking into the conference and exhibitor room and hearing a buzz of voices and activity. We look forward to seeing you all at an event soon.

HYGIENE IN FOCUS (HIFs) REPORT – *John Rigarlsford

In order to keep SOFHT members up to date with unbiased, accurate and essential information on Food Technical issues, Food Hygiene, and Food Safety related topics, a series of Hygiene in Focus (HIF) leaflets has been prepared by members and non-members of SOFHT. These can be found in the Members' Area of the SOFHT website. All HIF contributors are recognized knowledgeable and experienced "experts" in the field about which they have undertaken to write. The HIFs are as succinct as possible, and in a format that is easy to read, download or print. They cover a plethora of subjects and are grouped under Legislation; Pest Control; Micro-organisms; Food Processing; Hygiene; and Cleaning and Disinfection. There are now 34 HIFs and more are hopefully being submitted. HIFs over five years old are reviewed to ensure that information is as topical and up-to-date as possible. In some cases, this may mean a complete rewrite. My thanks go to the experts who have undertaken this task, and to the SOFHT Office for all their meticulous work in formatting the new and revised HIFs and placing them on the web site.

I would very much appreciate your comments on the value of the HIFs and views on the existing HIFs. I would also like to hear your ideas on subjects for new HIFs. Anyone willing to submit a paper for consideration as an HIF would be very welcome. Accreditation, where possible, is included in the HIF.

TECHNICAL REPORT – *Dr Karen Middleton-Gell

The SOFHT Legislation Forums have had continued success and interest from members over the year with a range of relevant topics being discussed including Food Fraud at the July 2015 meeting; The Food Information Regulation – One Year at the November 2015 meeting; and Brexit – The Legal Fallout at the recent Forum in April 2016. The Forums are well attended and attract representatives from food manufacturers, retailers and suppliers and will continue to be held three times a year, with the next events planned for July and November 2016.

The Technical Helpline has also offered continued support to the SOFHT members covering a range of technical enquiries from food labelling and integrity to biocide legislation.

EXTERNAL ORGANISATIONS

The Society of Food Hygiene and Technology are members of The Foundation of Science & Technology.

The Society is also a supporting organisation to the Food & Drink Federation's Foodlink. The Society promotes National Food Safety Week.

TREASURER'S REPORT - Neil Griffiths

The financial year 2015/16 has produced a surplus of £9,517 for the Society. Total Income for 2015/16 has shown a significant increase over last year (£229,693 in 2014/15 to £242,195 this year) which with expenditure being kept under tight control (£228,779 in 2014/15 to £232,746 this year) has led to this improved performance. Of particular note was a much improved performance in our Events programme which resulted in a substantive improvement in Events income over the previous year (£9,947 in 2014/15 to £25,263 this year). Further this year total Membership Income showed a 9% increase over the previous year.

The Society capital and reserves together with the cash in hand position stood at £73,248 and £108,827 respectively at financial year end (compared with £63,731 and £83,757 at the end of the previous financial year).

Council now believes that with the achieved strengthening of the Societies balance sheet it can now afford to further strengthen membership services in the coming budgetary year. This will be achieved initially by increasing office support for the Society whilst maintaining a neutral budget for the 2016/17 year.
